History Relives During Ceremony Designating Site U.S. Landmark

By ROBERT POFF

Garrison addressed the crowd, explaining the methods used by the Park Service in designating historic landmarks. There are fewer than 800 such sites in the entire nation, he said. Another address was given by Jerry A. O'Callaghan of Washington, chief of the office of legislation and cooperative relations of the Bureau of Land Management. He traced the history of the party of pioneer surveyors who established the "point of beginning" in 1785 and explained the significance of the U.S. system of land surveying Service presented the East Liverpool Historical Society with a certificate attesting to the designation of the site as a national landmark.

LEMUEL A. (Lon) Garrison of Philadelphia, northeast regional director of the National Park Service, presented the lavishly engraved certificate to the Rev. Jennie Eckert of East Liverpool and Robert E. Williams, president of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., who accepted it on behalf of the Historical Society. Mrs. Eckert and Sheet & Tube deeded ground to form the site for the monument when it was moved from obscurity six years ago.

The ceremony was held at a little "parklet" at the state line to which the monument was moved in September 1960. Previously, it had been nearly hidden in a deep pit in a nearby slag fill.

The rite at the state line was preceded by a dinner at the Travelers Hotel at which all the out-of-town officials and guests were introduced.

Thomas Hutchins, first geographer of the U.S., led the survey party which placed a stake on the north shore of the Ohio River 181 years ago to establish the "point of beginning" for a

4 Lose Lives In Pittsburgh District Crash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A station wagon and car collided head-on on Route 22-30 just west of here Friday night, killing four persons and injuring a woman. Two of the dead were ministers.

Killed were the Rev. Robert L. Hollenbeck, 36, of Midway in Washington County, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Midway; his wife Virginia, 36; the Rev. James Spaulding, 31, of Burgettstown, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Burgettstown; and Edward F. Scullion, 59, of Pittsburgh.

The Rev. Mr. Spaulding's wife Patricia, 35, was in serious condition in Ohio Valley General Hospital.

Scullion, who was alone, was the driver of a station wagon that swerved out of control on the four-lane highway, crossed the median and collided with the auto operated by the Rev. Mr. Hollenbeck, state police said.

The accident occurred near the Carnegie Interchange during a driving rainstorm.

The pastors and their wives were en route to their homes from Pittsburgh. They were in the city to watch the baseball game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and San Francisco Giants, which was rained out.

The Rev. Mr. Hollenbeck and his wife were the parents of four.

Peace Vigil

Month Of Prayer For Ending War

NEW YORK (AP) — They take up their solemn post today outside the United Nations.

Off and on, in the next month, they're likely to appear there or at other places across the land, their heads bowed in supplication.

Devout men, troubled men, in clerical collars, prayer caps or plain civilian suits, Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews, they are sentries in a vast vigil for peace in Viet Nam.

In a "critical world situation," said Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, president of the National Council of Churches, "may our prayers for peace and for those who suffer be fervent and unceasing."

Touched off by the special appeal of Pope Paul VI, leaders of many other religious bodies have joined in calling for concentrated intercession for divine help in ending the Viet Nam fighting.

October, the last month of autumn, is the time set for it.

"Make October a month when every church will open daily," the Rev. Dr. Allen Walker, a Methodist, exhorted at the Christian (Disciples of Christ) convention this week in Dallas.

The Rev. Dr. H. Franklin Paschall, of Nashville, Tenn., president of the Southern Baptist Convention in urging Baptists to join with Roman Catholics and others in the special period of prayer. He commented, "Together, we may achieve amazing results."

The Pope, in his encyclical calling the Southeast Asia conflict a threat of "a more extensive and more disastrous calamity," said "We cry to them in God's name to stop."

He asked for particular devotions through October toward that purpose.

Rabbi Dr. Maurice N. Eisenbraun, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, and Rabbi Jacob J. Weinstein, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, said:

"We join our voices in prayerful solidarity with the great religious leaders of the world and especially Pope Paul and his heartbroken plea to the nations of the world to stop before it is too late."

LBJ Averts Airline Strike For 60 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has averted for at least 60 days a strike by 12,000 members of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union against Pan American World Airways.

Johnson signed an executive order Friday creating a three-member board to investigate the dispute and report its findings within 30 days, but did not immediately name the members.

The union will be barred from striking for another 30-day period after Johnson receives the report while negotiators continue to seek a settlement.

The strike was threatened for 12:01 a.m. Sunday. A Pan Am official in New York said the dispute involved wages, premium pay and health and welfare benefits.

It was the third time this year Johnson has set up an emergency board to study airline disputes.

The AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists rejected one board's recommendations and union members walked off their jobs on five major airlines in July. The strike lasted six weeks.

Johnson set up the next panel to investigate a contract dispute between American Airlines and the Transport Workers Union.

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, sucking new power into her system from the tepid waters of the Caribbean, lashed and tore at Cuba again today and once more Floridians followed the killer storm's erratic course with alarm.

Just when forecasters were considering the "all clear" sign for Florida, Inez crossed them up during the night with a westward turn that brought all of Communist Cuba in range of her howling winds and torrential rains.

And, as Prime Minister Fidel Castro glumly watched an economic disaster develop in his already tottering nation, Inez became again a definite menace to the U.S. mainland.

With more than 100 dead in her wake and possibly many more, Inez screamed out of the southeast into Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province Friday, battering that agriculturally rich area with wind gusts up to 138 miles an hour.

Death Toll Soars

The Weather Bureau thought she would veer northward, then come off the island into the Atlantic, then hammer the central Bahamas on a track that would keep her clear of Florida.

But Inez never got to Cuba's north coast. Instead, she thrashed to west-northwest back into the Caribbean and howled along the south edge of the island on a snake-like course that is expected to bring her close to Havana late today.

The 8 a.m. Weather Bureau bulletin estimated the location of the eye 200 miles southeast of Havana and 550 miles south of Miami. Inez was howling toward the west-northwest at 12 miles an hour.

If continued, this course would bring the storm back ashore in western Cuba late today or tonight.

Small craft owners in the lower Florida Keys were warned to remain in port.

If she regains her strength and moves back over Cuba, said forecaster Paul Moore, she could reach the Florida Straits by tonight.

The straits, separating Cuba from Florida, is the unpredictable body of water used as an escape route by refugees fleeing Castro communism in small boats.

Inez has been twice weakened in titanic collisions with the mountains of Hispaniola and again with the towering peaks of Oriente Province — but back over the water she gained new strength.

Hundreds were injured, though sands homeless, and vast crop acreages laid waste in the storm's raging journey through the Caribbean from the French island of Guadeloupe to Cuba.

It was feared that many bodies lie in Haiti, where Inez hurled the full force of her wind and rain down a heavily populated valley enclosed by tall mountains.

Death and damage tolls climbed continuously as rescue teams reached stricken areas.

Only one death was officially reported in Cuba, where Castro took personal charge of the evacuation of 123,000 persons from low-lying areas of the southeastern coast. Roaring tides had come ashore there.

Cuba is slow to report its storm deaths. After Hurricane Flora killed more than 2,000 residents in 1963, Castro waited several days to disclose it in a speech to his people.

In 12 hours over the mountains.

Second Day Of Double Strikes

B52s Pound Red Troops

SAIGON (South Viet Nam) based Navy pilots reported a demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam, U.S. B-52 bombers pounded Communist troops in barges along the coast from they reported triggering 10 secondary explosions and 13 fires today for a second consecutive day of double strikes.

One of the raids hit at North Vietnamese infiltration routes just south of the demilitarized zone where American Marines are fighting North Vietnamese forces in Operation Prairie.

This is the area hit by the two B-52 raids Friday. The latest bombing, at midnight Friday, struck 20 miles west of Dong Ha.

The other Stratofort raid came at noon today. The long-range bombers hit at Communist troop headquarters and supply areas 40 miles northwest of the coastal city of Qui Nhon.

The heavy strike was in support of U.S. 1st Cavalry Armored Division troops in Operation Thayer.

Ground action across South Viet Nam was reported small and scattered once again. The only sizeable contacts were made in the two operations near the B-52 raids.

Over North Viet Nam, U.S. bombers kept up their crippling pressure Friday. Pilots flew 143 bombing missions against oil depots, missile sites and transportation facilities in the Haiphong areas and the southern panhandle.

The U.S. command, in a delayed report, announced one American plane was shot down Thursday night during raids over North Viet Nam, the 38th such loss of the war. The plane was a two-place Air Force F-4C Phantom. One crew member was rescued and the other reported missing.

How Many Men, Kind Of Weapons?

Ike Urged To Spell Out Needs To Win Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield, who has opposed escalation of the war, said he was sure Johnson would receive any Eisenhower suggestions most gratefully and consider them seriously and with great respect.

But the Democratic leader said Eisenhower's statement "needs amplification and answers to such questions as does he think we need 500,000, 1 million, 2 million men to win? What kind of weapons would he use and what does he mean when he said, 'I'd take any action to win'."

Eisenhower, who led Allied armies to victory in Europe in World War II and was president when a cease-fire was declared in Korea, advocated at a Chicago news conference Friday the application of "as much force as we need to win."

The five-star general avoided a direct yes or no to a question whether he proposed use of nuclear weapons. But he said, "If they gave me the problem, I'd take any action to win."

Mansfield noted a lack of specifics and said in an interview, "If Gen. Eisenhower has any specific ideas as to what he would do if he were in President Johnson's shoes I would suggest he make his views known to President Johnson."

Top winds of 138 miles an hour lashed the town of Guantanamo Friday, destroying a number of homes. Heavy damage also was reported at the nearby U.S. Navy base although none of the base's 9,000 residents was reported seriously injured.

Havana radio said Inez' devastating winds flattened Oriente Province's precious sugar crop but did not necessarily ruin the crop. Earlier, her winds and torrential rains wiped out the cotton crop on the Barahona peninsula of the Dominican Republic.

Civil defense authorities in the Dominican Republic placed the toll at 67 dead and 225 missing with more than 1,000 homes destroyed. Unofficial sources listed more than 700 dead, 500 injured and some 5,000 left homeless.

We know they all began in East Liverpool on Sept. 30, 1785."

William Morris of New York, Hutchins' deputy surveyor, ran a line from the "point of beginning," starting on Sept. 30, 1785, O'Callaghan related.

"After four miles, which would have placed him at a point just west of present-day Lisbon St., he suspended his survey on account of the uncertain state of the Indians," the speaker said.

Morris' notes told of the terrain and soil he found along the way. In the first mile, for instance, he noted "rich bottom land chiefly with white and black walnut."

Of the second mile, he wrote: "The soil is generally of a good quality for wheat. Some of it is suitable for the cultivation of tobacco, hemp and Indian corn to great perfection."

GARRISON, in his remarks, said the federal government frequently acts to preserve "battlefields, cemeteries and the military aspects of our national growth, but often at some other prodding than national conscience."

The designation of a Registered National Historic Landmark "recognizes resources of genuine historic merit," he said. The action also "honors those who have worked to preserve and recognize a particular site or structure and calls attention to the general need for historic preservation," he said.

Gumm presided at the ceremony at the state line, introducing the speakers.

About 35 attended the dinner at the hotel and the ceremony which followed.

Others who attended included: Mayor George E. Willshaw; Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey; W. B. At St. Aloysius

Sister Honored

Parishioners of St. Aloysius Catholic Church here will honor Sister Mary Bernardin, S.N.D., Sunday on the occasion of her 60th anniversary of religious profession.

A public reception for former pupils and other friends will be held in the school auditorium from 2 to 4 p. m. and a Holy Mass will be offered in the church at 5.

In 1904, Sister Mary Bernardin entered the congregation of the Sisters of Notre Dame in Cleveland and pronounced her holy vows on Aug. 25, 1906. Shortly after, she began her long teaching career in the schools of St. John, Delphos, and St. Ann, Toledo. Varied experience then followed at schools in Cleveland, Elyria, North Ridgeville, Canton, Massillon and Youngstown.

Contract Dispute Alters Bus Setup

Due to a contractual dispute, the Greyhound Bus Lines is temporarily without an agent for the terminal on E. 5th and Walnut Sts., M. L. Battaglia, district marketing supervisor for the firm, disclosed today.

Battaglia said Greyhound has been granted permission by the owner of the depot to continue the loading and unloading of passengers at the present location, with fares being collected by the drivers until the situation is clarified.

He said package express can be consigned to or from Midland until a new agent is obtained.

Sister Mary Bernardin came to East Liverpool in 1944, where she taught the intermediate grades for 22 years. Until her retirement in June 1965, hundreds of students from St. Aloysius and St. Ann parishes here, as well as many from Sacred Heart in Chester, experienced the benefits of her devoted service. Former pupils remember her characteristic enthusiasm and thoroughness as an educator and are quick to point out "they always felt the assurance of her kindly interest and were encouraged by her patience and understanding."

Since retirement, Sister Mary Bernardin has resided at St. Aloysius Convent, where she still maintains a keen interest in her many friends.

Trial Planned In Entry Case

LISBON — Criminal trials will begin Monday in Common Pleas Court with an East Liverpool burglary case.

The defendant is Gail P. Freeman of 155 Thompson Ave., East Liverpool, charged with burglary May 10 at Raimond Shoe Repair Shop at 521 Broadway.

Sixty persons are scheduled to report at 9 a. m. for selection of the jury. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard will preside for criminal trials the remainder of this year.

Fourteen other Grand Jury defendants also pleaded not guilty, assuring Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis and James D. Primm Jr. of a busy fall. Changes in pleas are not unusual, however, it was pointed out.

Arraignments were completed Friday with the appearance of Jerry Ogden, 18, of 410-A Jefferson St., Newell, who pleaded guilty to the theft of a 1965 Buick Riviera June 17 from Mike Turk, Inc.

Ogden asked probation. Judge Buzzard directed Probation Officer Richard Rose to make an investigation and report.

House Okays Suspension Of 7% Tax Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's bill to squeeze some of the business-spending steam out of the swollen U.S. economy has cleared the House and now faces efforts in the Senate to exempt various industries.

The measure would suspend for about 16 months the 7 percent investment tax credit that has helped produce a boom in machinery and equipment buying, plus fast depreciation provisions that encourage construction of industrial, commercial and apartment buildings.

About the time the House was passing the bill 221 to 118 Friday, Johnson was appealing to 10 more governors to trim public spending in their states in conjunction with the administration's anti-inflation program.

All but one of the 10 governors indicated a willingness to try to do some economizing. Gov. Paul B. Johnson, Mississippi Democrat, remained silent when the governors met with newsmen after the third in a series of White House conferences. Johnson is holding with state chief executives.

Everything That Moves

The pending measure for a federal department of transportation at the Cabinet level is the most ambitious idea for collectivized control since James R. Hoffa and the late Mike Quill dreamed of organizing everything that moves.

A proposal has passed the Senate and been sent to conference with the House, which previously approved the idea. It is far from the form proposed last March 2 by President Johnson, but form is not of major significance.

Of major significance is the fact a federal department of transportation would be so massive at its inception and would grow so much larger in the natural course of events it would be a dominant element in the executive establishment. Its secretary would be a major power in the Cabinet. Its budget would be overwhelming.

People who chew their fingernails to the quick when it appeared labor leaders like Hoffa and Quill might sit astride everything that moves should wonder about a federal official doing the same thing.

A transportation department's initial proportions would be upward of 100,000 employees and a $6 billion budget. This would be only the beginning. If the three dozen-odd separate bureaus and agencies collectivized in the new department all succumbed to the inevitable tendency to grow larger their combined pressure would be insuperable.

The new department would be outranked only by the Department of Defense in ability to spend money and influence the dynamic potentiality of the nation.

It would dominate legislation. The very government would be under its influence. It could dictate the ebb and flow of commerce. It would be a government inside a government.

Is the United States ready for this kind of collectivization? Congress seems to be ready. The states have shown no inclination to make federal control unnecessary. They have clung to sovereignty and states' rights, at the expense of carriers and non-commercial users of transportation.

There has been a complete lack of coordination. The federal government has shortsightedly subsidized air transportation and truck transportation, even water transportation, at the expense of railroads.

It has ruled railroads with a heavy hand while patting railroad competitors on the head.

But the question raised by Hoffa and Quill is raised again by the idea of a catch-all department of transportation in the federal government. Is the United States ready for central control of everything that moves?

Almost As Bad As Bullets

The bewildered South Vietnamese peasant has even more to worry about than the incomprehensible fighting that ebbs and flows around him.

A bayonet in the heart, a shattering bomb blast, or a death dealing bullet can bring an end to his immediate dilemma. But staying alive presents a continuing set of trying circumstances.

He has a family to feed, but doesn't know from day to day if he will have enough land to produce an adequate food supply.

This situation has been brought about by a land reform policy framed during the Diem reign and being carried out by Premier Ky. Last year, Ky promised to issue land titles to 116,000 persons, but so far only about 6,000 cases have been processed.

In a new move, the U.S. has volunteered the use of photo reconnaissance planes, a computer and technicians to speed up the program.

American aerial photos and computer technology will substitute for ground surveys. Other data processing equipment could be used to print the titles. This plan eliminates two bottlenecks in the program.

The form U.S. aid is taking in the matter is significant. For once, U.S. assistance is being given to implement a project for the betterment of the Vietnamese people set up by their government without outside influence.

Even when the farmer has a plot of land to call his own, he runs the risk of being pushed off it by the Viet Cong.

Pecking Order

It cannot be foretold whether Southern legislators will be able to put hobbles on desegregation of schools and hospitals.

If they fail in this current effort, it will not be for lack of effort. There is an interesting thing about this never mentioned by Southerners and not mentioned often enough by Northerners.

All federal laws forbidding prejudice have to be written in broad terms to guarantee their constitutionality. They never mention Negroes. They say no one can be barred from equal benefit because of race, religion, color, or national origin.

It is overlooked that these laws have current beneficiaries other than the Negroes who happen to be the discrimination problem of the moment. In other times, Americans have discriminated against other minorities.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Your Aunt Effie has been hounding me about the safety of our Maxwell. She has been reading stories about safety features on new cars.

She thinks the Maxwell will not pass muster if a cop flags us down and gets nosy. I keep telling her not to worry about the car but to worry about me.

I couldn't pass muster, either. I do not have dual brakes. My rear vision is cloudy. My high beams are too high and my low beams are too low. My synchro-mesh transmission is meshier than it should be.

If I had to defend myself in traffic court for not being in the peppy generation I would look at the judge and say, "Your honor, I plead guilty to being older than the dam fools under 26 who are running up the cost of auto insurance sky-high. Other than my age, however, I am as innocent of wrong-doing as my dotty wife, who doesn't know how to drive."

"I have been operating a horseless carriage since they came with dashboards minus whip-sockets and horse tails. My first one steered with a tiller instead of a wheel. I have gone through every evolutionary stage with the auto."

"It is my boast that I never have been in an accident either my fault or the other fellow's fault. This indicates I must have been doing something right, and I will tell you what it has been."

"I have been diligently striving to stay out of accidents. I have done everything in my power to avoid trouble. The very fact I stand here before you pleading guilty to owning and operating a Maxwell proves I have been successful. They haven't made Maxwells since 1925."

"My Maxwell does not have a scratch on it, not a dent, not a bruise. It is what they call 'A-1 Clean — a Beauty' on used car lots. And me, your honor, though I am no beauty, I am A-1 Clean as far as my driving record is concerned."

If he is lucky enough to harvest a crop, it may be seized by the Viet Cong or burned by Americans if he is suspected of aiding the VC.

If he escapes all man-made dangers, natural enemies of floods and insects are waiting to take their toll.

The South Vietnamese farmer has learned to live with fear, but he cannot live without food.

Shadow Cabinet

Ronald Reagan's booming success as a campaigner opens up a whole new vista for entertainers and puts a new light on selection of U.S. officials.

If Reagan, former television and movie actor, is a hit in the new California production, "Governor," other stars may take the plunge.

With those nearing the voting age today having grown up on television fare, the results may be startling.

Who knows, someday we may see a lineup in Washington that looks like this:

President, Matt Dillon; vice president, Chester; secretary of state, Ed Sullivan; secretary of navy, Lloyd Bridges; secretary of treasury, Jack Benny; attorney general, Raymond Burr; secretary of agriculture, Walter Brennan; secretary of defense, Napoleon Solo; secretary of health, education and welfare, Dr. Kildare; secretary of commerce, Maxwell Smart; secretary of labor, Donna Reed, and postmaster general, Dennis the Menace.

They have discriminated against Catholics, Jews, Irishmen and Italians. They even have discriminated against women, who are a majority.

It is a safe bet they will discriminate against still others in the future. Call it the "pecking order" or just human cussedness, someone always is going to be on the short end.

Wouldn't it be ironic if one day in the future Southerners would be seeking protection under the sale-same civil rights laws they keep trying to scuttle? After all, if the Southerners are correct, it won't be long until all Negroes have moved North and the South won't have them handy for discrimination any more.

Someone will have to nominate a new minority for the same old threatment.

By Truman Twill

"My Maxwell and me are nothing to be afraid of. We're both licensed, which is more than many of the hell-drivers who go through this court can say."

"We can do nothing if it is the decision of the prevailing powers to militate against us just because we are old and underpowered. It is the way of life in this country to plow under everything that is getting up in years."

"But this I promise by my sacred honor your, ahem, honor — if you try to plow me under I will demonstrate against the peppy generation."

"I will put me and my Maxwell on display in a downtown location, with a placard stating we have gone through more than a generation of vehicular vicissitudes without a scratch, so now comes the great good government to rule us into oblivion by right of eminent domain so the dam fools in their souped-up multi-hundred-horsepower go-devils can mash one another at will and reimburse themselves with insurance funds I have piled up for them, without ever making a claim against any insurance company, either my own or someone else's."

I hope only that Hizzoner is an old goat, not some callow whippersnapper. I might be ruled out of order in the court as well as on the highways I have been paying for all my life. And as for your Aunt Effie, if she gets troublesome, I will trade her in on a new job. She sends regards.

Closer And Closer!

The U.S. Case Against Mr. Weber

By Victor Riesel

NEWARK, N. J. — 'Tis not often that one leaves the nation's highways to chance upon a fief such as this garden city which is the domain of a yachtsman, otherwise known as Pete Weber, $45,000-a-year (minimum) leader of the legendary Operating Engineers Local 825.

But Mr. Weber is in serious trouble with the federal government, and, ex-pugilist though he is, he may not be able to fight his way out of this one. And since he sets the wage pattern for the land's $60 billion construction industry, and he is the chap who last March told President Johnson's economic advisers to go to hell and told newsmen a government-sponsored report "stunk," anything that happens to him is a big story.

The government, acting through Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, is suing in the Federal Court to set aside Mr. Weber's recent election—and that of his fellow officers.

FURTHERMORE, the Labor Department wants the right to supervise the next poll of union members.

This is no provincial matter. If the government action succeeds in the civil court, it will have smashed a system of elections through which many tough construction trade unions have held power over some of the country's most basic industries.

Mr. Weber, now 56, has ruled his powerful local and its billion-dollar jurisdiction for two decades through a simple system of union satellites. Here you get a study of this sort of union power which has antagonized and beaten down many a crusader.

IT'S ALL BASED on the union-made rule that only those in the parent body, Local 825, can run for office. The gadgetry in this is in the fact that only 1,250 of the union's 6,000 members are in the parent body. The others are in affiliates A, B and C.

Members of these satellites cannot run for office. They can vote. But they can vote only for those who are members of the elite parent body heavily-handedly dominated by Mr. Weber. Think not that the satellite membership is made up of young and inexperienced nail hammerers who need seasoning in their trades or experience in trade union matters.

Section A is made up of journeymen and assistant engineers. Section B is mostly road construction workers. Section C is in the industrial field — boiler tenders, stationary engineers, etc.

Some of the satellite members have been on the union lists for decades. Yet they can vote only for fellow members who are in the parent body made up of the handlers of the big cranes and other massive machinery. Members of the parent union earn up to $22,000 a year per man on just straight time.

Victor Riesel

THIS SYSTEM of control by a small group is illegal, says the Labor Department. It has been saying this for some time. Ever since 1963, in fact, when Mr. Wirtz moved to set aside an earlier election. But the current action refers to the last "poll" held on Aug. 16, 1965.

Mr. Weber undoubtedly is the most consistent nose thumper in the labor business. So, when the government asked him for his union records, he simply rejected the request.

He refused to permit the government, despite its obvious right — and the right of any rank-and-file member under the Landrum-Griffin Act — to look at the membership and mailing lists; the union's voter registers; all work papers and tally sheets which the election committee used in conducting the nominations, elections and counting of ballots; all poll books used to check off voting members; copies of sample ballots; all financial records pertaining to the election; invoices relating to the purchase of election supplies; and minutes of all meetings including those of the executive board pertaining to the nomination and election of officers.

THE COURT RULED he must produce. So he gave them up "voluntarily."

On the basis of what the Labor Department investigators found, the government feels that "the union local imposed unreasonable qualifications upon the rights of its members . . . to be candidates for and to hold union office and denied its members . . . a reasonable opportunity to nominate, vote or support the candidates of their choice."

It was worth, therefore, wandering into this garden city. So vital a story, so essential a government action should not be lost to public notice. Not in the year 1966.

Another chapter in the history of East Liverpool comes to a close with the passing of John Dee Jackson into the "next world."

John Dee's blustery greetings always brightened the dimmest day. One's burdens some how seemed lighter whenever John Dee happened upon the scene. He was loved and respected by men of all races, colors and creeds.

We can all learn a great deal from the life of John Dee Jackson. John Dee demanded love and respect from no man. Yet he freely loved and respected all men. John Dee Jackson knew the secret. Love and respect are not gained, they are given.

Paradoxes

By David Lawrence

Relationship Of State, Church

This might be called the time of paradoxes in American history.

One week, Congress refuses to adopt a proposed constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayer in public schools because it is argued that "church and state" are supposed to remain separate.

Next week, President Johnson tells an audience of bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church that their ministers should get into politics and involve themselves in the controversies of government. This contradiction is bound to have its repercussions among the members of churches of all sects.

Many churches have been insisting that their ministers should stay out of politics and try to advance the good of the community primarily by helping to improve human beings.

The President recognizes that there is dissent in many congregations about the role of the preacher. He acknowledges there may be some persons who say the preachers "should stay in the church and stay out of any socially conscious movements, poverty programs, community developments or political meetings."

Mr. Johnson declared:

"I hope you will tell them this for me. Tell them that in this age the church cannot afford to stand aside from the great problems of our times. . . ."

"Because if the preachers in this country step aside from politics and community life and leadership and social problems, then who steps in? If the good men of the church have no business in these causes who is left to do that business? I have never heard a satisfactory answer to those questions."

APPARENTLY, the President is unaware of the bitter controversies going on inside churches in all sections of the country as laymen protest that their ministers should not participate actively in political movements.

Again and again, it has been insisted that, while ministers may express their own views, they should not undertake to speak in behalf of members of their congregations on one side or the other of any political question.

It is contended that no preacher has the right to use the name of his church or his congregation in politics or in governmental controversies.

The answer usually made by churchmen active in politics is that most questions being discussed nowadays are important from a moral and social viewpoint.

The clergy has always played an influential part in community life and has performed a valuable service in pointing out the need for personal integrity, righteousness and honesty in all walks of life, as well as helpfulness to one's fellow man. But this is a far different thing from engaging in activities of a political nature and giving the impression that the minister is reflecting a consensus of his own congregation.

The President's comment that "the church cannot afford to stand aside from the great problems of our times" will be interpreted as just another way of saying the church and the state are not separate, after all, and now are to become closely allied with factions or political parties — all on the theory that, since the objective is good, "the end justifies the means."

THE PRESIDENT emphasizes his concept of the relationship of church and state when he says that "the story of our progress in civil rights is the story of the pulpit, as well as the story of congressional battles."

He declares that the "headquarters for the battle in almost every community have always been a church and often an African Methodist Episcopal Church."

The President expresses the hope that "the cry for freedom" will not become "the sound of a brick cracking through a store window."

He cautions that "if that sound should drown out the voices of reason, frustration will replace progress and all of our best work will be undone."

Mr. Johnson does not mention the names of leaders who have preached nonviolence yet have incited others to violence.

The President's remarks will be the subject of controversy.

He touched on one of the hottest and most delicate questions in the whole "civil rights" crusade and the relationship of church and state.

THE CHURCH history actually goes back to before 1815, when a class of Methodists was formed in the Stevens neighborhood in Middleton Township, with Amos Stevens serving as leader and sermons delivered by a traveling minister. The services first were held in the homes of members, in barns and often in the woods. Then a meeting house was built which was known for years as the Stevens Church.

In the summer of 1865, a new edifice was built near the site of the old house, under the trusteeship of John Huston, John Burson, James Fitzsimmons, G. H. Huff, William Burson, Edward and Isaac Huston. The building was dedicated Nov. 18, 1865.

In 1879 the membership numbered about 70. From 1879-1891 no records were available but it is assumed that the church continued as usual.

During 1891-1922, the Mt. Zion Church was on the Rogers charge and for some reason it was separated from the Rogers Church. B. H. Shaddock, who was minister, later went to the Orchard Grove Church in East Liverpool, but continued to hold services at Mt. Zion in the afternoon. About 1935 the church was closed and several denominations would conduct occasional services in the building as mission work.

IN NOVEMBER 1953, Arthur Seevers from the LaCroft Church of the Nazarene was asked to hold services in the building. He carried on in that capacity until January 1955, when those who were attending expressed a desire to reorganize as a Methodist Church.

In June 1955, the North East Ohio Annual Conference appointed the Rev. Leona Rodgers, an ordained elder in the Methodist Church, to the Mt. Zion Church. She began her work July 3, 1955, with 27 members.

The Rev. Theodore Nusser then was appointed and assumed his duties July 1, 1962, with the membership at 67. In February 1965, plans were made to erect a Sunday School annex, with ground broken on May 17, 1965. It first was used to date is 93.

Mrs. Elsie Mohr is organist and Fred Kane is soloist at the church.

'Neighbor Parties' Set
By Trinity's Members

Families of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church have been invited to parties at the homes of their church neighbors during the weeks of Oct. 3 and Oct. 10, with the series of 20 parties to be called "Trinity Neighbor Parties."

Through the cooperation of the session, board of trustees and the planning committee, who are working with the ministers, these groups have set up parties to bring Trinity families living in the same neighborhood closer together and to help bring the pastors in closer personal contact with the families.

Each party will have as special guests one of the ministers, who will lead a short devotional, and a trained layman to present a few remarks about Trinity. The primary objective of the parties, however, is to further relationship with one another. They are not to be regarded as prayer meetings, it was emphasized.

Arrangements will be made for families who cannot attend the party to which they have been specifically invited to attend another meeting on a night of their choice. Special invitations will be mailed to each church family.

Families who will hold parties include Monday, Misses Anna and Tillie Perdune of 415 Jefferson and Mrs. Homer O. Huston of 600 Blackmore St.

Tuesday, Mrs. Bayard W. Hunsicker of 235 Pennsylvania Ave. and Mr. and Mrs. Don Eckert of 338 Thompson Ave.

Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lewis of 1846 Lisbon St. and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gauron of 919 Montgomery Ave.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

Gods' Answer To Sin

Once a man is convinced that he is guilty of sin in the sight of God, the next step is for him to want to know what to do about that sin. We can see this in a study of Acts 2. First, Peter convinced the Jews present that they have been guilty of killing the Son of God. When they realized this fact they wanted to know what they must do in order to have the forgiveness of sins.

Since it is a fact that all of us are guilty of sin (Rom. 3:23; 1 Jno. 1:8-10), we too ought to be concerned in finding just what God wants us to do so that our sins may be forgiven.

Has God given us the answer? Yes, he has. Jesus came into the world to provide that answer for us. Jno. 1:29 "Behold the lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." Jesus died on the cross and shed his precious blood so that we might have access to the forgiveness of sins. Mt. 26:

28. "For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Jesus sent his disciples out with this commission, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." Mk. 16:15, 16. Thus, they began preaching this message of Jesus in regard to the forgiveness of sins. The book of Acts is an account of how they accomplished this mission.

If I am concerned about the way to be forgiven by God for the things that I have done wrong, I can then find the answer to this problem by a study of the book of Acts. As we have already mentioned, in Acts 2 when the people were convinced that they were guilty of sin, they asked, "What shall we do?" Read carefully the reply given by Peter. Remember that Peter was an inspired Apostle under commission to Christ to tell people how to be forgiven. Hear him. "Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." In this passage we have Peter delivering God's answer to the problem of sin. This answer must be right. If any want forgiveness they must repent and be baptized.

For some strange reason, some have set themselves against the command to be baptized. They have worked vigorously to keep people from obeying this command of God. We have been told that baptism is not important, that it is merely a figure, and that it has nothing at all to do with our salvation. These ideas plainly contradict the teaching of the Bible. Listen again to Peter in 1 Pet. 3:21 "... baptism doth also now save us."

Have you complied with the terms of pardon given by God? Do so at once.

Coon Hunters Go To The Dogs

By Harry Stewart

Queenie's baying led hunters to quarry.

"Listen!"

The group of hunters halts immediately, remaining silent, and from the distance comes the faint baying of a hound hot on the trail of a raccoon. The sound provides a sensation chasing away chill that has settled across their shoulders, wet from the drizzle of rain coming through the trees in the dark woods.

The pace has been slow, but now it quickens as all head in the general direction of the barking, pausing briefly every minute or two to orient themselves.

The first thought is that the barking comes from an opposite hillside, up a steep hollow. This dampens the spirits of the hunters because it means wading across Beaver Creek — and the water is cold.

Suddenly, the deep-throated cry is heard more clearly and the tone is different, indicating the object of the chase has taken refuge in a tree.

HALTING IN the shoulder-high weeds at the edge of the creek, the group strains to hear the sounds, trying to assure themselves as to where the dog is located.

Then it is clear — the dog has not treed the coon on the other side of the creek, but has chased it into the bottomland just upstream. This brings murmurs of pleasure.

Pushing on through the wet weeds and trees, stumbling in the dark, the party soon finds the dog, a redbone named Queenie, baying and leaping up a wild cherry tree.

Spotting lights are brought into play and the beams search through the top of the tree, seeking the raccoon hiding in the foliage. Black and gray, he is good at hiding from his pursuers.

Then the animal's eyes glow like two small balls of green fire as a light catches them.

One of the men shouts he has spotted it, and the other lights play onto the same area.

Then the coon can be seen plainly.

But there is another discovery — there are two coon in the tree.

Queenie has treed a pair of small, young ones called "cubs" or "kittens."

Queenie keeps barking and attempting to leap up the tree, realizing the prey is there. One of the other dogs in the pack arrives on the scene, attracted by the noise.

A Treeing Walker, called Frosty, he too takes up the deep-throated call and makes frenzied lunges in the air.

THE COON KEEPS crawling back into the foliage, so one of the men decides to shake the tree to make him show himself better.

Two or three shakes and then the cry "Look out below. Grab the dogs."

A hissing, thrashing coon comes tumbling down as the limb breaks beneath him.

In an instant, the dogs grab him, but the handlers quickly pull them off. The coon scurries away through the weeds, hissing and crying his displeasure at being mauled.

Then the dogs are leashed and led away from the scene so they can be hunted in another section of woods. Coon season doesn't open until November, so the furry animals are not killed.

IT'S ACTION like that which leads coon hunters to remark, "It's the greatest sport there is. Once you've tried it, you'll never be satisfied with any other type of hunting."

Enthusiasm is one thing a dyed-in-the-wool coon hunter doesn't lack. They can aptly be described by two stanzas from an old poem:

"Get out the hounds: I'm well tonight, and young again and sound; I'll have a run once more before they put me underground."

Rain and snow don't deter them from pursuing the nocturnal raccoon, and they give no thought to hunting into the small hours of the morning.

Stumbling around through dark woods, climbing steep hillsides, wading cold creeks — it's all in the game.

Many do not eat coons although some report they are very tasty — and the hides are not very valuable, but hunters say you can't set a monetary value on the sport. You are either a coon hunter or you're not.

Night hunting is enjoyed by both young and old and those who participate are from all walks of life.

There are potters, millworkers, farmers, utility employees and others.

DICK McCARTY of Congo is a typical hunter and is teaching his son, Scott, 11, a sixth grader at Newell Jefferson School, the fine arts of the sport.

Those interested usually band together to form a club, such as the Tri-State Coon Club of East Liverpool.

The hunt described was one incident from a field hunt conducted last week by the organization.

The evening started by gathering at the home of the president, Lawrence Bickel of Shadyside Ave.

Hot coffee, sandwiches and cake were set out on a table for the men as they waited until all had arrived so the preliminaries could begin. While waiting, there was a great deal of talk about past hunts, the qualifications of various dogs, the favorite places to hunt, field trials and the usual good natured kidding.

"Anyone who wants good luck tonight, just rub that red dog on your way out," one commented. The general response was that the animal didn't know which direction to run when he was turned loose.

Coon hunters have a jargon all their own and the conversations were laced with references to various types of dogs used in night hunting, such as Walkers, redbones, blue-ticks and black and tans. These dogs weigh 40 to 50 pounds and one of the club's objectives is to improve the breeds.

AFTER A BRIEF session to settle some business, the registering of the dogs begins.

The hunt is to be conducted under the United Kennel Club, Inc., night hunt rules. It is operated on an honor basis.

The number of "casts," or groups to hunt, is determined by the number of dogs entered. There are enough for two casts, three dogs in one and four in the other.

Numbers are put in a container and the handlers pull out a number to determine which cast their dog will be with.

There must be three or four dogs in a cast, but not more than four. There must be one handler to each dog.

After the proper forms are completed, each group decides where to hunt. This is done so the casts don't go to the same areas.

One headed for Beaver Creek State Park while the other went to Sprucevale. Coon are plentiful and range all along the creek banks and hillsides. An adult coon will weigh 12 to 15 pounds and with a strong will give a dog a good fight.

The dogs are loaded into boxes in pickup trucks and everyone heads out into the night. Several go along on the hunts just to observe.

In the woods, the hunt is limited to a predetermined time. This hunt is for three hours.

THE DOGS ARE loosed at approximately 9:30 and then it is walk, wait, listen, and walk on again. The pace is not fast, giving the dogs time to hunt all the surrounding area.

The first coon is treed approximately an hour on the trail.

The voice of each dog is different and they can be recognized by their owners.

The first dog to "open," or pick up a trail receives 100 points. The second receives 75, the third 50 and the fourth 25.

When dogs strike, or get up a coon, and tree it, this counts as extra points if the coon is seen by a majority of the cast members present.

Points are detracted for a dog treeing game other than coon. Points also are taken away when a dog opens and does not tree, when the dogs tree and the scorekeeper can plainly see no coon is there or when the dog leaves a tree.

ONE CAST included Harold Beaver of Wellsville R. D. with a black and tan called Jack, McCarty with Queenie and Bickel with Frosty.

The other included Allen Potts with Lead, Delmer Reed with Spot, Bob Boley with Kay and Ray Newlen with Red Devil. All are from East Liverpool.

Beaver and McCarty tied in the first cast and Beaver won the small trophy on the toss of a coin. Reed won the second cast.

At one point in the hunt, the first cast was forced to wade across the creek when Jack treed a coon up a tall tree along the shore.

The other cast put up one coon and a possum.

Returning to the Bickel home, the score sheets were tallied and everyone grabbed a welcome cup of hot coffee.

Each of the hunts was relived again and congratulations and "condolences" were offered.

Most of the hunters were tired and wet.

One remarked, "You don't have to be crazy to be a coon hunter, but it helps."

Charles Bess of Glenmoor enjoys hot coffee at end of hunt.

Frosty leaps up on tree where coon is hiding as Queenie sounds off.

The Lighter Side

THE UNION OF Soviet Socialist Republics is negotiating a business deal that will mean the end of its monolithic existence as surely as though Patrick Henry, Francois Voltaire and Giuseppe Garibaldi had been elected to the Presidium.

The Russian Reds, who scoffed for generations at the idea that any individual should own property privately, decided within the last few weeks to contract with two Italian auto manufacturing firms to turn out nearly two million cars a year in the Soviet Union.

The deal stirred little comment, except briefly in some of the slick business magazines in the U.S., and they did not deign to analyze the social consequences of such an act of madness on the part of the Kremlin's double domes.

But any person who stops for a moment to contemplate the vast changes wrought in the economy, terrain, social habits — and morals — of the U.S. in three generations of widespread automotive use would be able to forecast accurately the upheaval that will roll across the U.S.S.R. from its western-most reaches to Outer Mongolia.

It will make the October revolution seem like a dud fire-cracker, and a puny one at that.

RUSSIA'S PRODUCTION of motor vehicles of all types was 184,000 annually, according to the last available statistics. The Kremlin's contract would produce a ten-fold increase.

The present annual production appears to be just about sufficient to cover the attrition caused by collisions between Moskvitch sedans and troikas on snow-covered rural roads and the sudden expendability that overtakes an auto when it's tooled along one of those icy Moscow streets by a commissar full of vodka and caviar.

When those two million cars a year begin to filter down to the working stiffs, who will be left to mind the stores at all the tedious rallies and "political discussions" that occupy the workman's mind?

In a few years, the average Ivan will be too busy shining the chrome on his family sedan, checking the carburetor or arguing with the local transmission specialist to turn up at a hate-the-capitalists seminar in his local community club-room.

The well-organized spontaneous demonstrations touched off every time a U.S. plane drops a bomb in North Viet Nam may go begging for extras to carry the spears.

Ivan may be too busy appearing before the local Soviet to argue for more parking space or attempting to fix a ticket. And—most likely of all—he may be circulating a petition demanding more adequate roads.

IMAGINE THE HUGE expenditure of capital and human endeavor that a bureaucratic monster like the Soviet Union will be forced to pour into problems of traffic control and movement—enigmas that have taxed the imagination and the treasury of the Americans, despite all their native ingenuity.

A big percentage of the U.S. population is kept busy manufacturing, servicing and otherwise catering to the monsters that were designed to be society's servants, but instead have become its masters.

In a bureaucracy, at least twice that many individuals would be required to produce the same results.

Will the Kremlin leaders have time to compete in dreaming up new and particularly devastating plots against the West? Hardly, if their experiences in the automobile age match those of their American counterparts in the governing class.

They'll find themselves so embroiled in the meshes of planning a highway system and building parking lots that they'll do their plotting only at odd intervals.

The members of the Presidium, instead of competing for the top job with well-directed knife thrusts in a friend's back, will be jockeying for position in the ranks of cars parked outside the seat of government.

And when screaming thousands waving banners walk through Red Square each year on May 1, it won't necessarily be the homage of the rank and file to the all-wise heirs of Joe Stalin.

More likely, it will be a delegation from local auto clubs demanding a parking space for everyone, better highway markings and an end to notorious speed traps.

THOUSANDS OF NOW productive workers will be drawn out of the economy to dream up and manufacture new brands of chrome polish and additives guaranteed to stop oil-burning and increase compression even in a pre-Revolution model.

Many more will be inventing and manufacturing all those other gadgets so dear to the proud auto owner's heart—like whitewalls for his tires, custom-made litter baskets, fancy hubcaps, extra chrome strips, foolproof jacks and stuffed animal figures whose eyes light up when the brakes are applied.

When more millions of the population have been siphoned off to issue traffic tickets, fix smashed fenders, build highways, paint center lines, pick up litter along the berm, operate car washes and man used car lots, the Russian bureaucracy will be looking forward to a new population explosion to take up the slack in manpower.

There's something about a mechanized citizen that makes him far more independent and daring than his pedestrian brothers, particularly when he's behind the wheel.

When Russia takes to the road, it may encourage a whole new breed of independent thinkers willing to compromise with the U.S. in return for the patent on a four-speed transmission or a non-slip differential.

But the minor bureaucrats will suffer most. Caught between the baleful watchfulness of their masters and the irate importunings of the Russian motorist, imagine the fate of the first traffic control engineer who erects a sign declaring: "No left turn."

Home Hints

By Ann Overturf

Columbiana County Home Economist

What household job do you dislike most? Ironing is the answer of many homemakers. Here are some basic rules for making ironing easier.

First, eliminate all parts of the task possible. How many of us actually dampen some items of clothing which don't need dampening? Although many easy-care fabrics need some touching up with an iron, a steam iron will do the trick in many cases. Dampening the garment takes time and additional time is spent in ironing the garment dry. Remember your steam iron is a helper to eliminate one phase of the ironing chore.

Consider leaving some articles unironed. Ironing of sheets is a matter of standards and what is important to you.

There are ways for pressing sheets such as taking them from the dryer when they are just slightly damp, folding them and laying them on top of the dryer while something else is drying. This will smooth the sheets.

Now, a second point — remember to keep everything within easy reach. Keep the clothes basket on a chair or stool so you don't have to bend over every time you reach for another piece.

KEEP THE ironing board at a convenient height for you. See whether you can reach the opposite side of the board without bending your back or moving your shoulders. You should be able to do this whether sitting or standing. It will help eliminate strain on your shoulders.

Also, consider being able to sit down at the ironing board. When selecting a new board, look for one which has the underneath supports off center to allow you to sit comfortably at the board. Even though you aren't interested in sitting down to iron right now, you may be in a few more years.

When sitting to iron, be sure the board is low enough so you can sit on a chair rather than on a stool with your feet dangling. A chair gives you a comfortable back rest and your feet can remain flat on the floor.

Have a clothes rack close at hand. If you don't have a built-in laundry center with a real good place to hang things, there are inexpensive portable racks that can be stored in a closet rather compactly but still have an arm that can hold a large amount of ironing.

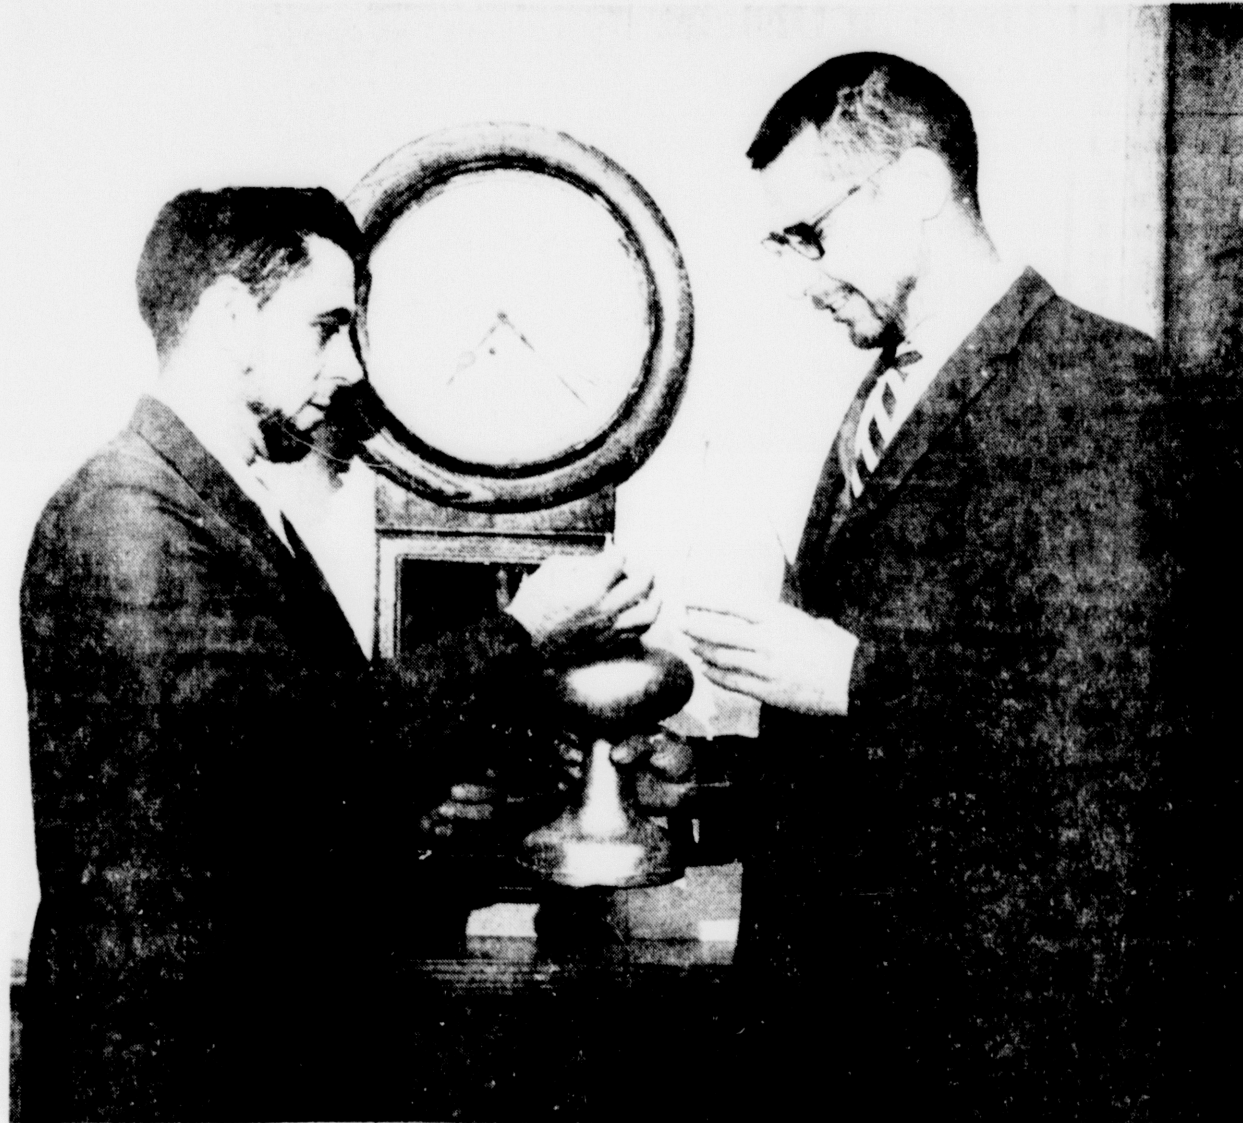

Do make use of both hands while ironing. For example, shift your iron to the left hand instead of walking around to the other side of the board.

ANOTHER POINT to consider is making one task out of two or more. For example, fold pillow slips as you iron them instead of waiting until you have ironed them completely.

Some of the newer wider ironing boards or ones that have leaves that fold up to make wide boards are fine for ironing shirts, linens or curtains. Another idea — when ironing some of these wider things on a regular ironing board, turn the board around and use the wide part of the ironing surface and the pointed end to rest the iron.

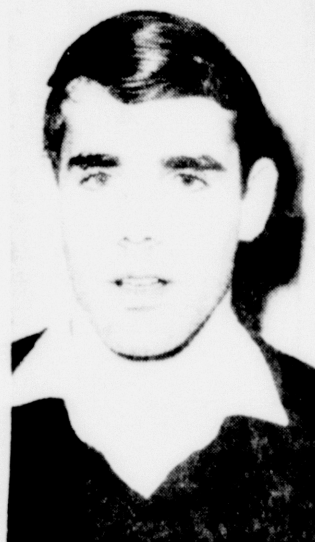

The drying process can add more wrinkles to clothes. Fold the clothes as you take them from the line or dryer. This reduces the number of creases you will have to iron out later. Clothes left in a dryer too long develop wrinkles difficult to iron out, so remove the clothes from the dryer before they are bone dry.

When dampening clothes, put the heavier things or the things which require a hotter iron, in the bottom of the basket, and put the things requiring a "mild" or cool iron on top so you do not have to keep changing the iron's temperature dial.

CHURCH TURNS BACK CLOCK. Dean DeLong, left and Ralph Stanley, both of Michigan Ave., light an oil lamp in front of an antique clock at the Boyce Methodist Church in the East End which will hold an "Old Timers Night" Oct. 9, staging a service of the kind held 100 years ago. Some of the men have grown beards for the special event which will feature old-time religion, an "Amen Corner," bonneted women and girls and a hitching post in the yard.

You And The Law

"Not responsible for damage by fire, loss due to theft, etc."

reads the sign on many garages you have probably used. Just how effective is this sign and just what does happen in time of loss?

This sign's language comes from a rule set down in 1900 on the liability of the blacksmith. It has become universal in its application to the garageman. Many today hold, however, that the sign is ineffective.

THIS STATEMENT of limited liability generally is rejected on the premise that the bailee — in this case the garageman — does not have the right to exempt himself from the consequences of his own negligence.

Generally, it is a rule of law that when a person holds himself out to the public in any particular employment, work or trade there is an implied agreement with those who may employ him that he (and his employees) are at least as skilled as others in that business. It also implies that they will perform their work faithfully and they will exercise the same skill and prudence ordinarily observed by others in the same line of work.

IN OTHER words, if a garageman habitually leaves uncovered gasoline cans about his place of work, he is not exercising the skill to be reasonably expected. If a fire destroys the car in the garage, the garageman might be held liable.

On the other hand, if the garageman specifically warns the owner of a car that a vehicle is not safe, then the garageman is not liable for resulting damage. So, if the garageman tells you your brakes won't work, don't try to sue him when your car won't stop.

Stamps In The News

When summer has gone, can Christmas be far behind? Not in the world of stamps.

The U.S. Post Office Department has now made public the design of the 1966 Christmas postage stamp. The five-cent stamp, which will be printed in five colors, is scheduled for issuance on Nov. 1. First day ceremonies will be in Christmas, Michigan.

The new stamp is the fifth in the series of holiday stamps and is expected to sell in large quantities. The Post Office has put in an initial print order of 1,200,000,000 (one billion, two hundred million).

The main design features a painting by Hans Memling, Flemish master of the Renaissance, entitled "Madonna and Child with Angels." The painting now hangs in the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C. as part of the Mellon collection.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien stated: "This stamp design is entirely appropriate to the spirit of Christmas and at the same time will be a miniature reproduction of an outstanding work of art."

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Officer in Charge, Christmas, Michigan 49862. The envelope to the Officer in Charge should be endorsed "First Day Covers 5c Christmas Stamp." Request must be postmarked no later than Nov. 1.

THE AUSTRALIAN News and Information Bureau has announced that the Norfolk Island Post Office has issued two new stamps, 4 cents and 25 cents, to mark the centenary of the Melanesian Mission. The designs of the stamps will show, respectively, the interior and the exterior of the Mission Church, St. Barnabas Chapel.

The Verse Box

Bang?

If they took me on a liner,
Far away to Indo China
And put a gun into my shaking hand,
Meanwhile saying, "Okay Mister,
Fight for Country, Mother, Sister!"
There's a basic thing I'd have to understand.

Just who is shooting whom
In this hectic land of doom—
The natives there pass freely back and forth—
Viet Cong and Vietnamese
Are alike to me as peas—
Are they Viet South or are they Viet North?

Now I'm not a guy to tittle,
With a hickey like a rifle—
I wouldn't want to shoot a perfect stranger—
Mark him with an "N" or "S"
So I do not have to guess.
And quickly, please my life may be in danger.

My dilemma is a beaut,
Since I'd not known whom to shoot—
My close ally or else the fiendish foe—
And I'd be beset with doubt
If I could not sort them out
For to them it makes a difference, I know.

Oh I hope I'd do it right
Else I would not sleep at night
If later I discover I'd been wrong
And because of problems mental I'd shot a friendly Oriental
And never even touched a Viet Cong!

Two Autos Overturn; Another Smacks Pole

Two cars overturned and another rammed a utility pole along Lisbon St. Ext. in a series of area traffic mishaps investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon Friday.

Charles R. Powell, 22, of Lisbon R. D. 2 and Lilitia Clemens, 18, of Kensington R. D. received minor injuries when his car overturned on Route 45 about three miles north of Wellsville yesterday afternoon. Officers said Powell was driving a 1955 coach which swerved off a curve, veered off one side of the road, then the other and came back and went off the highway, hitting a ditch and rolling over on its top.

Powell, cited for speeding in excess of safe road conditions and his passenger were taken to a Wellsville physician for treatment, the patrol said. Alvin Jarvis, 18, of 1812 Clark Ave., Wellsville, escaped injury when his 1963 coach rolled over an embankment along Township Rd. 797 near Route 39 about 5:15 p.m.

Officers said Jarvis lost control of the car which went off the right side and rolled over an embankment, coming to rest on its top. He was cited for speed in excess of road conditions. John Russell Shaw, 59, of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, was charged with drunken driving after his 1956 station wagon hit a telephone pole and a mail box and scraped a power firm pole.

The patrol said Shaw attempted to turn off Lisbon St. Ext. onto 7th Ave. and the mishap occurred. Shaw and Opal Shaw of the same address escaped injury. Telephone wires were downed, however, officers said.

Noah Ward, 67, of New Matamoras was cited after his truck collided with a car at the intersection of Route 170 and St. Clair Ave. Ext. in Calcutta.

Ward was headed east and turned north after halting for a stop sign, colliding with a southbound 1965 sedan operated by James Newman Sr. of 608 Pond St. Ward was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Paul H. Merwin, 23, of Sillman St., New Waterford, was cited for failure to yield after his 1963 coach hit the rear of another car on Route 62 about two miles west of Salem at 6:50 p.m. Officers said Merwin's car hit the rear of one operated by George Smith, 18, of Alliance, who previously had struck the rear of another auto driven by Leslie Lauder, 22, of Columbiana R.D. 2.

Smith also was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Appellate Court Division Opposed By County's Bar

LISBON — The Columbiana County Bar Association voted Friday against a motion to divide the Seventh Appellate Court District.

The proposal, advanced by the Appellate Court with offices at Youngstown, would make two districts of the 13-county territory.

Citing a high case load compared with other districts, the tribunal suggested the "Seventh" be divided at a line between Mahoning and Trumbull counties.

The southern section would have Mahoning, Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll, Harrison, Belmont, Noble and Monroe counties, while the northern section would be comprised of Trumbull, Portage, Geauga, Lake and Ashtabula.

Columbiana attorneys said they are not against revision of appellate districts, but they suggested a statewide study. They said changing one district without changing others would result in more inequities.

President Lawrence W. Smith of East Liverpool presided during the business meeting at the Courthouse before the association's seminar on "The Revocable trust — an essential tool for the practicing lawyer."

Jack H. Cohen of East Palestine, chairman of the committee on continuing legal education, showed a film featuring Dean A. James Casner of the Harvard Law School.

Lloyd Townsend, vice president and trust officer of the Union National Bank of Youngstown, discussed trusts and answered questions after the film.

More than 40 lawyers attended. Dinner followed at the VFW McKinley Room on E. Lincoln Way.

Only 2 Of 10 Stations Offer Imported Ware

Only two of the 10 Standard Oil Co. service stations in the East Liverpool area are offering Japanese - made dinnerware as a premium to attract customers — a practice attacked Friday by the IBOP—manager of the outlets said today.

A spokesman said none of the dealer - operated stations is offering the Japanese ware. Only the company - owned outlets have stocked the imported china, he said.

The IBOP criticized the Standard Oil Co. yesterday for offering the imported ware "practically in the back yard of area potteries and communities where citizens have been trying to live as Americans and managers of potteries have endeavored to survive the horrors of imported cheap wage china."

City Has 6 Mishaps

Driver Escapes Pursuit In Crash

An unidentified motorist escaped pursuit after a hit-skip collision Friday night at 8:39 on E. 5th St. about 60 feet west of Washington St., police reported. It was one of a series of six traffic mishaps over night.

The hit-skip car, moving the wrong way on the one-way section of E. 5th St., collided with a 1962 sedan driven by Harold L. Talkington, 38, of 62 6th St., Midland, who was pulling out of a parking spot, officers said.

The unidentified driver alighted from the car, asked Talkington about the damage, then got behind the wheel again and backed to the junction of 5th and Market Sts., police said. The hit-skip driver turned left and headed toward the Diamond, Talkington told police.

THE MIDLAND man said his car was struck by a white 1959 Plymouth station wagon carrying Missouri license tags. Patrolmen Karl W. Samples and Leonard E. Richard started an investigation.

A witness told the police a short time later he had seen the hit-skip car at E. 6th and College Sts. Police spotted the car, but as they approached the driver sped down E. 6th St. and turned left on Broadway. Despite a continuing search, he could not be located again, officers said.

Talkington told officers the crash damaged the grill and front bumper of his car.

A 44-year-old East Liverpool man was cited on a charge of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated after his 1957 sedan was found on the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks near Broadway at 3:45 this morning, police said.

The driver was identified as George Salsberry of 309 Washington St., who is tentatively due for a Municipal Court hearing Monday morning.

Patrolman Howard E. Frontz, who investigated, said Salsberry was unable to give an account of the mishap. Salsberry said "he was making a turn and the car ended up on the tracks," the officer reported.

The car was on the right-of-way parallel with the tracks and just east of Broadway, Frontz said.

A wandering dog was blamed for a crash that caused severe damage to two cars on the city section of the Freeway Friday at 4:37 p.m., police reported.

Promising Leads Are Reported In Triple Murder

CINCINNATI (AP)—Lt. Herbert Vogel said investigators have some "promising leads" in the triple murder of the Jerome J. Bricca family. The county homicide chief would not elaborate Friday.

Vogel did, however, offer some theorizing about just what did happen at their suburban Bridgetown home when Bricca, 28, his wife, Linda Jane, 24, and their daughter, Debbie, 4, were slain.

Meanwhile, rewards offered for the arrest and conviction of the killer have reached $8,000. Hamilton County commissioners Friday offered $5,000 and Sheriff Dan Tehan said he also has had reward offers of $1,000 each from two private citizens. A local television station has also offered $1,000.

The Briccas were found dead in their tri-level home Tuesday night and police believed they were killed sometime after 9 p.m. Sunday. Preliminary autopsy reports indicate they were stabbed a total of 23 times with a knife having a blade at least five inches long. Mrs. Bricca was raped.

Services Set At Wellsville

"World Community Day," sponsored by the Wellsville Council of United Church Women, will be held Nov. 4, it was announced during a meeting of the managing board Thursday night in the Riverside United Presbyterian Church.

Miss Kathryn Geisse, chairman for the observance, said the services will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Riverside Church.

The group voted to send $25 each to Delta and Indonesia under the "Neighbors Now" program. A discussion was held on how and where used clothing could be distributed, since there no longer is a relief office in the city.

Mrs. Marion Stanway, president, led the worship service, reading an article from "Today" and Romans 8:31,32. She also reported on a meeting on "Spiritual Healing" at Canton.

Christmas Seals Arrive: Sale To Start On Nov. 15

LISBON — "Flora from anywhere in America and a sweet bird of the imagination," is the way Artist Heidi Brandt describes the 1966 Christmas Seals for the National Tuberculosis Association.

The Columbiana County Public Health League has received 75,000 sheets of the four-color stamps. President Leo Lawrence of East Liverpool, county campaign chairman, said the health league's annual seal sale will begin Nov. 15.

The 1966 seal design has eight units. One block of four stamps has a green background and the next block of four has a white background. Each group of four is a complete design.

A red bird with black wings and the double-barred red cross brighten each seal. The other colors are green and gold.

The 1966 seal is the third Brandt design Mrs. Brandt created the 50th anniversary seal in 1956 and her 1961 design was the first four-unit seal in NTA history.

Lawrence said seal sale letters will have a new enclosure this year — a folder outlining goals of the NTA and its 1,700-member associations.

Hays Sets Tests For Academics

Rep. Wayne L. Hays announced today that all young men from the 18th Congressional District, which includes three new counties — Tuscarawas, Noble and Monroe — interested in applying for a nomination to the Air Force Academy, the Military Academy, the Naval Academy, or the Merchant Marine Academy should contact his office, 2264 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C., no later than Oct. 6, giving the congressman his date of birth, complete address and his academy preference.

Hays will hold a civil service preliminary examination on Nov. 5 for all interested individuals. Each will be notified as to the time and place of this examination, he said. The congressman pointed out that his nominations to the service schools are based largely on the results of this test.

Miss Hough Retires

32-Year Service Ends

Nearly 32 years of service were completed Friday with the retirement of Miss E. Ruth Hough as assistant secretary and loan officer of the Hancock County Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chester.

It was in November 1934 that Miss Hough returned to banking as the various institutions began cautiously to come to life again following the crash of 1929 and the succeeding depression. She joined the firm as a clerk to assist with the transfer of records as the Hancock County Savings and Loan entered federal money transactions.

In 1951, she was named assistant treasurer and in 1960 appointed to her present post.

"I'm losing my right arm," was the comment of her boss, James Elliot, vice president of the association. A life-long friend and helper is leaving us.

A farewell dinner was given for Miss Hough at the Inn Town Motel last night. She was presented a white-gold, diamond-studded wrist watch as a token of appreciation from her colleagues.

Her future plans? To catch up with housework at her home on 517 Chester Ave., more reading and additional time to work on her needlepoint.

Toledo Police, Firemen Reach Accord With City

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Negotiators for city policemen and firefighters announced early today that they reached agreement with the city on a pay raise proposal and would recommend ratification.

The announcement came about 4 a.m., after a 14-hour negotiating session mediated by the Toledo Labor-Management Citizens Committee. It could mean the end of a pay dispute that began two and a half months ago and has resulted in picketing and threats of quitting by the city employees.

The police and firemen scheduled a ratification meeting for 1 p.m. Sunday at Toledo's Civic Auditorium. Terms of the agreement reached by negotiators were not disclosed.

The labor-management committee, with all parties' approval, named a six-member subcommittee yesterday to try for an "acceptable formula" on pay raises and an increase in the city income tax, subject to voter approval, to cover added payroll costs.

A company offer of a 9 per cent wage increase over the next three years and increased vacation and sick benefits was turned down Thursday night.

The coalition bargaining unit had asked for a cost-of-living increase.

Finish Is Lowest Ever

Showers Helped To Assure Yankees Of Cellar Finish

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

April showers bring May flowers, but September showers helped bring last place for the New York Yankees.

Not that the Yankees didn't earn the spot all by themselves. It's just that they got an assist from the rain.

The Chicago White Sox made sure the Yankees would finish in the American League cellar for only the third time in their 64-year history by edging the one-time perennial champs 6-5 in 11 innings Friday night.

The finish actually is the lowest the Yankees ever have had. When they finished in the cellar in 1908 and 1912 there were only eight teams in the league. Now there are 10.

The once mighty Bombers would have had a chance to finish as high as seventh if it hadn't have been for the rain that fell earlier in the week. The rain in question fell in Washington last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and wiped out a three-game series between New York and the Senators.

Since the rain ended the season for eighth-place Washington and ninth-place Boston ran out of games, the Yankees went into the series at Chicago needing a three-game sweep to avert a 10th-place ending.

Three victories would have boosted them into an eighth-place tie with the Senators and would have dropped the Red Sox into the cellar.

When Roger Maris hit a two-run homer in the top of the ninth inning Friday night, the Yankees thought they had reduced their magic number to two.

But Smoky Burgess singled home a run in the bottom of the ninth and John Romano singled one across in the 11th, and the Yankee magic went poof.

In other AL games, Minnesota swept Baltimore 10-7 and 8-2. Kansas City defeated Detroit 8-5 and California trimmed Cleveland 2-0.

Burgess' run-scoring single in the ninth was the 136th pinch hit of his career and extended his record. Romano's two-out single two innings later brought Mel Stottlemyre his 20th loss against 12 victories. He was 20-9 last year.

Minnesota pulled into a second-place tie with Detroit with the double victory over the champion Orioles. The Twins roughed up one of Baltimore's top pitchers in game four.

Harmon Killebrew, Rich Rolins and Bob Allison homered off Dave McNally in the opener, and Killebrew and Don Mincher connected against Jim Palmer in the nightcap.

Kansas City downed Detroit with a three-run rally in the eighth inning, the last two runs coming on Dick Green's homer. Jim Gosger and Tim Lorton connected earlier for the Athletics.

Dean Chance pitched a two-hitter for only his second shut-out of the season. He gained the victory, his 12th against 17 defeats, on Jose Cardenal's two-run single in the third inning.

Baltimore's Orioles

Set Attendance Record

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles set a home attendance record Friday night when 12,260 spectators attended their two-night double-header with the Minnesota Twins.

The crowd boosted Baltimore's home attendance for 1966 to 1,190,026.

The previous record of 11,877 was set in 1960.

Brown Signs Pirates Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates has signed a five-year contract.

In the announcement Friday Pirate President John W. Galbreath said:

"In line with our long-range program, we thought we should have some future plans. We feel the five-year contract will cement the whole program we have to have for sustaining a good ball club. We want continuity, and we think Joe Brown can give it to us."

The Pirates, battling for the National League pennant, trail league - leading Los Angeles, Pittsburgh was rained out Friday night.

Brown, general manager on a year-to-year basis for 11 years, said: "I think I have the best job in baseball because anything I've ever wanted to do, I've never been interfered with."

Buckpasser 6-5 Choice Today In $100,000 Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Naylor, thoroughbred racing's No. 1 stakes and money winning trainer of 1966, put his divide-and-conquer program back into operation today with millionaire Buckpasser heading the bid for victories in the two richest stakes of the day.

Buckpasser, winner of his last nine starts and $1,038,369 in taking 18 of his 21 career starts, was the 6-5 choice to whip eight rivals in the 1 1/4 mile $100,000-added Woodward at Aqueduct.

Bold and Brave, one of the lesser known of the Naylor stable, was the top attraction for the 1 1/16 mile $50,000-added Hawthorne Diamond Jubilee at Chicago.

The Woodward, a weight-for-age race which has attracted a field of nine including Buffle, Tom Rolfe and Malicious, would be worth $112,000 if all start, with $73,190 earmarked for the winner.
